LIVER COMPLAINT, JAUNDICE, and all Bilious Affections, arise from some derangement — either torpidity, congestion, or obstructions of the Liver. Torpidity and congestion vitiate the bile and reader it unfit for digestion. This is disastrous to the health, and the constitution is frequently undermined by no other cause. Indigestion is the symptom. Obstruction of the duct which empties the bile into the stomach causes the bile to overflow into the blood. This produces Jaundice, with a long and dangerous train of evils. Costiveness, or alternately costiveness and diarrhosa, prevails. Feverish symptoms, languor, low spirits, wearness, restlessness, and melancholy, with sometimes inability to sleep, and sometimes great drowsiness; sometimes there is severe pain in the side; the skin and the white of the eyes become a greenish yellow; the stomach acid; the bowels sore to the touch; the whole system irritable, with a tendency to fever, which may turn to bilious fever, bilious colic, bilious diarrhosa, dysentery, &c. A medium dose of three or four Fills takeh at night, followed by two or three in the morning, and repeated a few days, will remove the cause of all these troubles. It is wicked to anfer such pains when you can care them for 25 cents.

RHEUMATIAN, GOUT, and all Inflammatory Fevers, are rapidly cured by the purifying effects of these Fills upon the blood and the stimulus which they afford to the vital principal of Life. For these and all kindred complaints they should be taken in mild doses, to move the bowels gently, but freely.

As a DINNER PILL, this is both agreeable and useful. No Pill can be made more pleasant to take, and certainly none has been made more effectual to A Remedy for the Heat!

"Good evening, Madam," said a well dressed week to a dashing lady of Lawrence, one of the new comers, I believe, for the old residents are a remarkably staid and sober people."

The couple happened to meet upon the platform adjoining S. S. Wood's magnificent Land Office, where, reader, you will find plenty of gold at a moderate per centage.

"Good evening, Mr. H.," replied the lady very civilly, although the perspiration stood in large drope upon her fine forehead, and she seemed almost too fatigued to stand.

"A warm evening, this, Miss C.," remarked the gentleman.

"Yes, indeed," replied the lady; "it is warm enough," and then a shade of melancholy came over her rather pretty features, and she seemed for a mument lost in thought. "Well," she at length exclaimed, "it is of no use to complain; we can't expect such things in Kansas—but I tell you, Mr. H., if we were only in Boston new wouldn't we enjoy those splendid the Creams of Parker's?

The gentleman made no 1994, was samply invited the lady into Stenm's Saloons, near which they were standing, and asked her to be seated. He then whispered a word into the ear of one of the ladies standing behind the counter, when she quickly vanished into an adjoining room. In about one mirate she returned with two plates of something catable, and deposited them upon the table, near which the visitors were seated.

"Holp yourself, Miss C.," observed Mr. H., when the lady turned to the table, and on perceiving what was before her she exclaimed in astonismaent, "Why, what is this? It isn't persible you have fee treams here?"

"Eat it and see," replied Mr. H. Miss C. devoured with avoidity the Invarious morsel, and then remarked, "Well, that is excellent, Why, I never eat better lee Creams in Boston."

As she rose to depart, she thanked the lady clerks for their efforts in behalf of the heasted in abitants of Lawrence, and ever since that she has visited the catablishment regu

Bread! Bread!
IT IN TRUE that" Man shall not live by bread alone," and yet, reader, mark my word, you will enjoy far better health if you ale more and better bread than you have been in the habit of using, and far less ment. I have just completed a large furnace oven, and have esployed thevery best baker in town, it is said by those who cat his pies. &c. I am, therefore, prepared to furnish parties and families with anything in this line, to order.
